EMPLOYMENTSCAPE | Overview

EmploymentScape was founded on the idea that people's lives can be transformed when they discover the means to drive their professional destinies and reach their career goals. Thus, EmploymentScape seeks to build meaningful relationships with its clients and guide them during the college, post-graduate, entry-level, and veteran years of their careers.

EmploymentScape fervently believes that research and its effective application can be the most powerful force in any life, and our goal is to bring the power of effective research into the lives of people everywhere. Historically, we have found that the most value for our research is in the career field. Here, we have changed the lives of hundreds of thousands of people throughout the world by showing them the opportunities available to them through effective research of the world's job openings—and more.

Collectively, our companies employ several hundred people throughout the world. In every single field we enter, we become the top company in our space within a span of one to two years. This happens regardless of the business we enter, and it occurs as if by natural law. Take a look at just a few of the incredibly successful ventures we've brought to life so far:

EMPLOYMENTCROSSING

EmploymentCrossing is the main hub for our collection of 100-plus industry-specific job boards. By dividing and conquering each job industry, our goal is to gather and share with the world all current and active job listings. We have targeted 108 key industries and set out to master each job market by mining and posting all relevant jobs from employer career webpages, newspapers, job boards, and other online resources. In addition, we do not charge employers to post jobs, a unique approach that encourages ever more job diversity on our sites.

Whether its focus is law, financial services, healthcare, or public relations, each Crossing site immerses its job-seeking audience in the latest and greatest job selections for the industry it covers, along with a variety of weekly articles and resources featuring the hottest news, trends, and names in its field.

EmploymentCrossing and its large collection of sites stemmed from our first industry-specific job board: LawCrossing. In becoming the legal industry's go-to site for attorney jobs, legal staff jobs, and clerkships for law students, LawCrossing has accumulated the popularity, growth, and mastery that EmploymentCrossing has worked to develop on an even larger scale.

Our writing staff works with clients individually to provide professional resumes and cover letters that meet clients' specific needs, and once finalized, the documents go to press. The names of the purchased contacts are printed on the cover letters and envelopes and are delivered to the given client.

The client only needs to sign the letters, stamp and seal the envelopes, and place them in the mail. For best results, we also recommend that clients follow up with their contacts approximately one week after initial distribution. Many of our clients have received as many as 10 job interviews as a result of one job search targeted mailing, an effective way for professionals to find new jobs.

EMPLOYMENTSCAPE | Law Firm Staff

LawFirmStaff.com

Law Firm Staff is different than other legal placement agencies. Many agencies offer placement services for the legal community, but their services are generally restricted to attorneys and other mainstream legal personnel. Meanwhile, paralegals and other staff handle much of the workload at most law firms, as most attorneys and upper-level legal professionals rely heavily on their staff for important back-end work such as research, briefs, and other projects. Accordingly, Law Firm Staff endeavors to provide the best candidates in this area.

We provide both temporary and direct-hire placement candidates for law firms that seek the very best paralegals, legal secretaries, and other administrative personnel. Our sole focus is to place experienced and highly skilled legal professionals in positions at the best law firms.
